

CBS Pre-Health Student

Sam Theesfeld

Sam Theesfeld is a CBS junior majoring in genetics, cell biology and development. He currently researches at the HCMC emergency department, where he's gained exposure to real-world medical situations. On campus, Sam is a part of the Pre-Med Scholars program, which helped guide his goals and strengthen his interest in becoming a physician.

After graduating, Sam plans on taking a gap year to scribe for an emergency department or coordinate a clinical research program in a hospital. He looks forward to his future as a physician where he can learn and grow every day.

Student Scoop

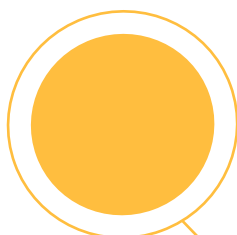

Genetics, cell biology and development major

Next step:

Scribe for an emergency department

Interesting fact:

Sam's favorite place to study on campus is the References Room in Walter Library.

College of Biological Sciences

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
Driven to DiscoverSM